

CS224 – Introductory Activity

Purpose: As we embark upon this course on the inner working on programming languages, we should start by considering what high-level programming provide the programmer.

Activity: With your group perform the following tasks and answer the questions. You will be reporting your answers back to the class in 15 minutes.

1. You have written some assembly language programs in CS220 and probably don't want to write a bunch of future projects in assembly language! Spend a few minutes with your group and write down as many features from programming languages that you have used that help you with the task of writing your programs.